

SOC 206 Community Organization and Development (2 Units)

The ideas of community and development, and patterns of growth. Characteristics of rural and urban groups. Case-studies of community development programmes in Nigeria and comparative studies of community development in developing countries. Problems of community development in Africa; role of local government; and community education.