

MME 304: Metallurgical and Materials Laboratories II

The practical experiments will be centred on preparation of core and baking of core determination of average grain size of silica sand, metallographic study of the as cast microstructure of some ferrous and non-ferrous alloys, creep studies on lead and plastics, general basic process of welding and cutting, extraction of metals.